Summary

Opened: In excavating [L9713], came down upon stone scribe ([W9728]); opened [L9730] to excavate material to W of [W9728]

Limits (N) Bordered by [L9733], [L9554], and [L9530]

(S) Bordered by [W9704]

(E) Bounded by [W9728]

(W) Bordered by [L9296]

Closed: Not closed; End of Season

Matrix: Crumbly, gray-brown mudbrick debris; special finds include a complete lamp (#97149) and a Scarab seal (#97134)

Relations: [L9713] lies partly above [L9730], but does not seal it. There are no loci yet below [L9730]. To the N, the material of [L9733] and [L9730] are probably identical. * To the S, [L9730] reaches [W9704]. To the E, [L9730] reaches [W9728], and may contain debris from the collapse of the mudbrick wall itself. To the W, the fill material of [L9730] and [L9296] may be identical, since their matrices are quite similar; although no floor has been found (yet) in [L9730], it is possible that a floor is coming up in the W part of the locus. * Also to the N, the material of [L9554] and [L9730] may be identical. [L9554] is described as fill coming down to floors, with a matrix quite similar to that of [L9730] i.e., mudbrick debris. The material of [L9530] and [L9730] also may be identical. [L9530] is described as containing mudbrick debris in this part of the locus. Both [L9530] and [L9554] lie partially on top of [L9730]. since hard, whitish material was beginning to appear at the end of the season.

Additional Observations/Value: The material in [L9730] is possibly disturbed on the W due to possible contamination from erosion.
